Nine Billion Deficit Rules Out Balanced Budget In 1954

Sharp Slump In Revenues Is Reported

Washington (AP)—Sen Taft (R-OH) said yesterday the government will wind up its fiscal year Tuesday night with a "very serious" deficit—having spent about nine billion dollars more than it has taken in.

What is even worse from his standpoint, Taft said in an interview, is the prospect that spending in the following 12 months is liable to bring an additional seven billion dollars in red ink entries at the Treasury.

The Senate's majority leader thus ruled out the possibility that the Eisenhower administration can balance the budget by mid-1954.

He left open the question of whether it can attain even a monthly balance of income and expenditures in the final six months of that calendar year, when Republican control of both houses of Congress will be at stake at the polls.

Taft said the estimated nine billion dollar deficit for the current fiscal year ending June 30 can be traced directly to a sharp slump in revenues. Former President Truman estimated last January the deficit would reach only $5,900,000 but he forecast revenues for the year of $68,677,000,000.

President Eisenhower said on May 20 that tax collections would drop 1½ billions or more below the Truman figure.

Actually, Taft said, the revenue will be about three billion below the Truman estimate.

One Killed In Crash Of Two Ships

Barnegat City, N. J. (AP)—The Coast Guard said an oil tanker and a freighter collided tonight with one man killed and 31 missing in a seasick fog off the South Jersey Coast.

The Coast Guard reported the S. S. Loide Panama was sinking. The captain and chief engineer of the ship were reported sticking to the listing freighter.

The African Endeavor, a merchant ship, reported it had picked up 21 survivors and a body at the scene. There were 53 men aboard the freighter.

The tanker, the S. S. Gulftrade, had a stove-in bow, according to the Coast Guard, but suffered no casualties. It was standing by for rescue operations.

REPORT FROM HOLLYWOOD

(Mr. Berkley is one of Hollywood's top story writers. Among his credits: "Green Grass of Wyoming," "Kangaroo," and the Dr. Gillespie series.)

Hollywood is fast becoming a ghost town. A survey of some six blocks along Hollywood Boulevard reveals 24 stores for rent on a street where space has always been at a premium.

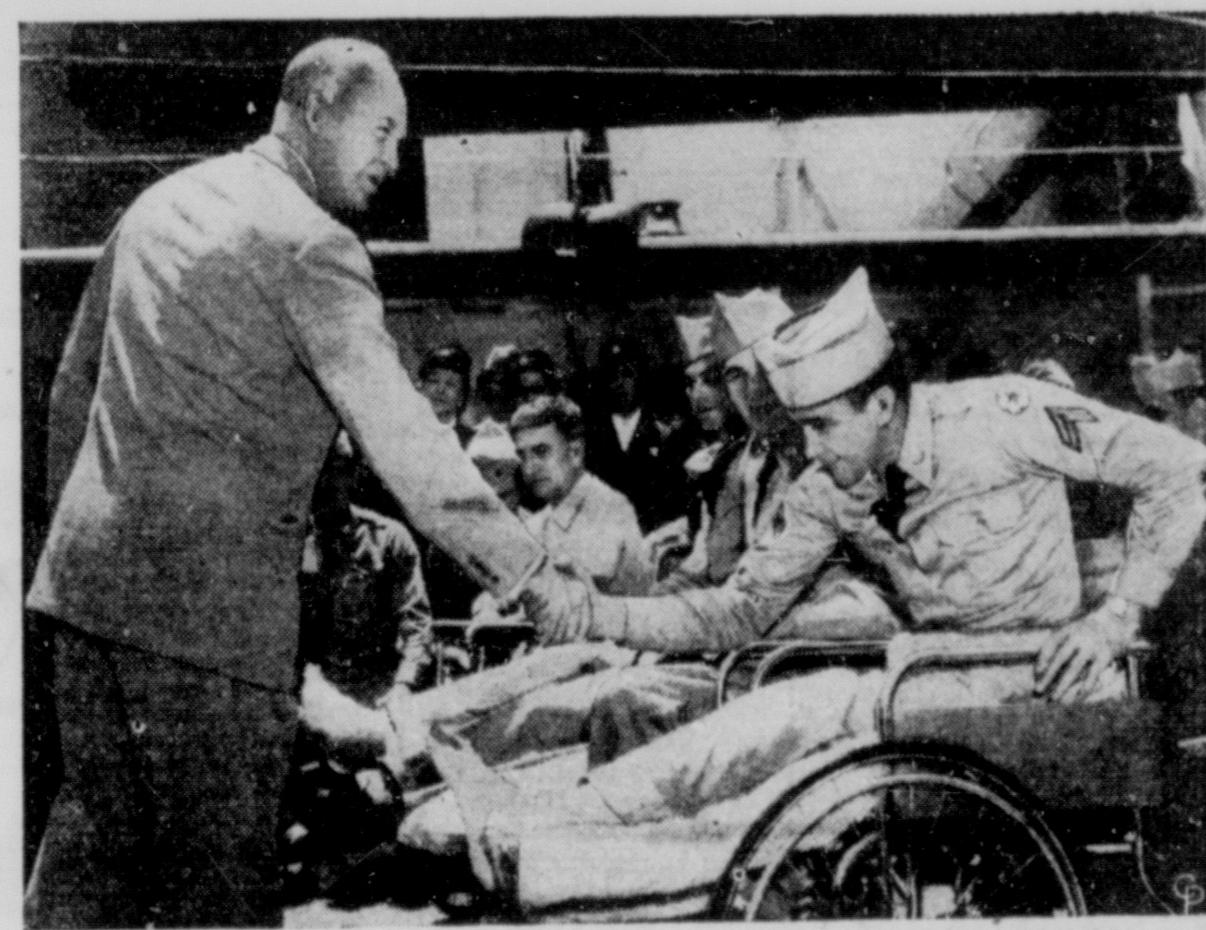

Nearly 60 percent of the teamsters customarily employed at the movie studios and about half of the 17,000 craft workers are unemployed. Less than 150 of the nearly 1,400 screen writers have assignments. And the figures are just as dismal for the actors, directors and musicians. All this while the rest of America enjoys a boom.

There isn't a single camera turning at Universal, Warner Bros., or Samuel Goldwyn's RKO and Republic have one each on the stages. MGM and Paramount have three apiece. Columbia has four. Only six are going at the once-flourishing independents!

But 35 movies are being shot abroad. And more than 5% of the films being exhibited in our theaters today—350 of them—were produced entirely outside our borders.

Budget Secretary Wraps Up Tax Package For Presentation To Bi-Partisan Group

Harrisburg (AP)—Dr. Edward B. Logan, budget secretary to Gov. John S. Fine, rounded up revenue estimates yesterday on a tax package which may include a sales tax/pack cigarette tax to 5 cents to raise 105-vote majority needed to pass a motor vehicles tax.

The figures will be presented to the governor today when he meets again with Republican and Democratic legislative leaders in a move to break a session-long tax deadlock.

Logan declined all comment on the specific taxes under discussion, but it is known he conferred with Revenue Secretary Otto F. Messner in whose department automobile and truck title transfers are handled.

The budget expert is expected to report that 2 billion dollars in automobile, buses and trucks were sold on a tax package to the House in Pennsylvania last year. The Republican caucus, if the GOP feated bill to abolish the State sales represented more than 360,000 shows enough interest, it will then go before the 98 House Democrats twice that figure in used vehicles. Rep. H. G. Andrews, Democrat of Albion, said he plans to ask the Senate version and 120 millions, Fine has called of his constitutional revision bill, for 118 millions in new taxes to balance the state's $1,400,000,000 statewide referendum on the question of rewriting the 70-year-old constitution.

Today also is the deadline for any reconsideration of a once-debated bill to abolish the State Commerce Department. The House voted down the Chesterman recommendation June 10.

Flash Fire, Accidents Take Lives Of 12 People

By The Associated Press

A flash fire in Western Pennsylvania and a highway accident near Lewistown Sunday raised Pennsylvania's weekend death toll to 12 victims.

Three of those killed in the fire near Albion, 25 miles south of Erie, were children. Albion Fire Chief John Ferguson said the blaze enveloped the kitchen of a three-room home, killing Georgia Moyer, 19, and her sister, July, 10, instantly. Bonnie Moyer, 2, another sister, and Marian Chase, 9 months, a cousin, died several hours later in the Conneaut, O. Hospital.

Ferguson said the children were visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Kenney, at the time of the blaze, apparently caused by an exploding kerosene stove. The Sunday highway victim was Anita Sower, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Sower, Philadelphia, whose car collided with an Army truck on U. S. 22, six miles east of Lewistown. Nine other persons were hurt in the crash.

The body of 3-year-old Dennis Wayne Mountz, Meadowbrook, was found Sunday in Conodoguinet Creek near Carlisle. The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo S. Mountz, disappeared while playing near the stream.

Methodists Observe Anniversary

Philadelphia (AP)—More than 35,000 persons raised their voices in prayer and hymn at Franklin Field yesterday as the Methodist Church celebrated the 250th birth anniversary of John Wesley, founder of the sect.

The words of the English scholar were the keynote as the church embarked on a campaign to enroll 250,000 new members for the church in this country.

"The world is my parish," cried Wesley, who criss-crossed England on horseback, recruiting members for the faith.

High point of yesterday's ceremonies was the admission into the church of 1,000 new members.

Russians Move Troops From East Germany

Berlin, (AP)—The Russians appeared yesterday that East Germany's Communist regime has recovered from the June 17 workers' revolt enough to govern again without the open backing of Red Army bayonets.

Throughout the Soviet zone, Communist leaders staged "loyalty" rallies as Russian commanders relaxed the tight military controls that smashed the rebellion.

Reports reached West Berlin that troop units are moving back to their barracks. In East Berlin parts of the two armored divisions that raced in when the workers rebelled have been withdrawn in the downtown areas. People's police have taken over routine patrolling.

In some cities the curfew has been lifted. In Berlin, the Russians have gradually cut it down until it now extends only from 11 o'clock at night until three in the morning. Announcement of the lifting of martial law is expected from the Russian high command, perhaps early in the week.

Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl and an army of his lieutenants are appealing the loyalty rallies to spell out their promises of better living for the fed-up workers.

The Soviet sector government announced 36 plants and shops have been returned to their former private owners in the past 48 hours. Hundreds of dispossessed farmers in the zone are back on their property, the regime added. Seven hundred now jailed in Halle for infractions of the Red economic laws—now virtually abolished—have been freed.

Officials told workers' meetings that the speed-up tactics in heavy industry are now a thing of the past.

In another development, Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader said he plans to ask the Senate version and 120 millions, Fine has called of his constitutional revision bill, for 118 millions in new taxes to balance the state's $1,400,000,000 statewide referendum on the question of rewriting the 70-year-old constitution.

Walter Votes For Ike Plan

Vienna, Austria, (AP)—A member of the Czechoslovak Communist government said yesterday a "great purge" was underway among the Communist party functionaries of the Czech coal region of Moravská Ostrava.

The announcement was made by Václav Kopecký—former Czech information minister and now a member of the Czech, Soviet-type government presidium—who was unveiled a commemorative tablet of the late President Clement Gottwald in the town of Moravská Ostrava.

Monroe Hoe Down Teams Will Compete

Reading, Pa., GP—Several hundred Pennsylvania Dutch from about one-third of the counties in the state are putting on the final touches for the fourth annual Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival which opens at the Kutztown Fairgrounds Wednesday.

Others—members of the square dance teams—are virtually walking on their toes, practicing "figures" dances for the big day when their teams will compete for the state championship. The festival will continue through Sunday.

The jigging champions will be decided Saturday night. Teams competing in the square dance contests will include the counties of Lehigh, Northumberland, Carbon, Monroe, Montgomery and Berks.

Dr. Alfred L. Shoemaker, festival chief and director of the Folklife Center of Franklin and Marshall College, sponsor of the festival, announced yesterday that square dance hoe-down teams competing Wednesday night will be those from Snyder, Northumberland, Adams, York, Dauphin, and Lebanon counties. Two top winners will be chosen.

It will be the 90th annual observance of the world-famed Civil War battle of Gettysburg which virtually coincided with the nation's fourth of July holiday.

Gettysburg this year begins the battle observance on Tuesday and it will run through Sunday.

Friars' guest during the six-day gala dedicated to patriotic memories will be Vice President Richard Nixon.

Nixon will speak at commemorative exercises Sunday at 5 p.m. (EST) at Gettysburg High School field.

The vice president's great grandfather, George Nixon, lies buried in the Gettysburg National Cemetery nearby. He was a soldier in Co. B, 73rd Regiment of the Union Army and died of wounds received in the Civil War battle.

Another association for the vice president in this part of the country is his parents' farm in adjacent York County.

The farm is at Menges Mills and was worked by the elder Nixon for three years, until 1948 when he injured his leg and moved with Mrs. Nixon to California.

Three regiments of the U. S. Fifth Division at Indiantown Gap, representing units which fought in the Civil War battle will be on hand for the Fourth of July parade Saturday.

The parade tops off other local events which build up to Sunday's celebration when the vice president delivers his address.

75-Room Pocono Health Center Hotel Is Sold By Andrews

New Ontwood Will Operate As Resort

Sale of Pocono Health Center, formerly known as St. Patrick's Inn, was announced yesterday by Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Andrew, of Stroudsburg.

The 75-room hotel was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schrager, Miami, Fla., who recently sold a hotel in Haverford, Pa.

The Schragers have now taken possession of the Health Center, according to Dr. Andrew, and have renamed it "The New Ontwood." The property thereby returns, in name, to its earlier historic background — nearly 20 years ago — when it was known as "The Ontwood."

Dr. and Mrs. Andrew purchased the property in 1952 from the estate of the late Joseph Howlett. Sale of the property was made through the real estate office of Miss Effie Mervine, Mount Pocono.

The Andrews changed the name of the property from St. Patrick's Inn to "Pocono Health Center," designating it as a center for use of the Hay diet plan.

Operation of the hotel under this plan continued until recently when negotiations for its sale began.

"The New Ontwood" is located one-fourth mile off Route 611 in Paradise township and consists of 18 acres of land in addition to the 75-room hotel building.

Mr. and Mrs. Schrager will "make improvements on the property and hope to cater to the better class of trade," according to Dr. Andrew.

Short Circuit Sets Fire At Rapids Hotel

Short circuit in a neon sign transformer set fire early yesterday to the Rapids Hotel in Analomink.

The alarm routed Stroud Township firemen out of bed about 2:10 a.m.

The faulty transformer, according to Chief Clyde White, was located in the frame-covered wall of a vestibule. It was necessary to rip off some of the outer boards to extinguish the blaze.

Damage was estimated at $100 by Chief White. Firemen were on duty about an hour.

The hotel, formerly owned by Miles Bossard, was taken over about six weeks ago by Robert Tweedie.

Summer Camp Fund Is Half Total Needed

Contributions to the Salvation Army Summer camp fund slowed to a trickle over the weekend.

Major May Adam reported only two gifts were received for the two-day period. Both were "anonymous" presents from "friends" the Major said—one for $10; the second for $5.

This $15 total brought the amount collected to date up to $316—slightly more than half the total sum needed to take care of underprivileged children sent by the Salvation Army to the annual Summer project at Forks, Pa.

This year Maj. Adam set a goal of $600 for the fund. During the past two months she and her co-workers have carefully "screened" applicants for the valuable Summer camp courses.

At the Forks project local youngsters receive instruction in handicrafts, non-denominational religion, swimming, life-saving methods, homemaking and organized sports.

Some of the children have mental or physical handicaps. These are given special remedial courses during week-long or ten-day visits to the camp.

For most of the children, however, the Summer camp offers their only opportunity to get away from crowded living quarters or broken homes.

Cost of sending the local children to camp varies with the age group in which they fall.

Young girls in the "Sunbeam" group, for example, are sent to the camp for one week at a cost of about $8. Teen-age boys go to camp for ten days at an expense of $15 each.

All individuals and organizations in the Stroudsburgs and Monroe County wishing to contribute to the fund should contact Maj.

Curtain Parts, Bishop Preaches

Berlin, Pa.—The Iron Curtain parted briefly yesterday to let Evangelical Bishop Otto Dibelius through to preach a sermon in East Berlin.

The bishop, head of the Protestant church in all Germany, was admitted by the Soviet soldiers and Communist police who guard the East Berlin border with guns and tanks, even though he had no special pass.

The Right To Know

The peoples' right to know as much as possible about their government and how it spends their tax money has been restored to a large degree by President Eisenhower in a proposed new order dealing with government information.

The order, holding that no information about the public's business shall be kept secret unless it involves the country's safety, will be put into effect after a study by experts to determine what changes might be made safely to free even more information to the people without endangering national security.

What the President's move means is that he is lifting a blanket of censorship under which any government business could be hidden if a department head decided it was not in the public interest to make it known. There was justification only for keeping from the public classified information affecting the national security. There still is. But under the old rules a public official could, if he wished, keep information injurious to himself out of public view.

The Eisenhower plan is more in the American tradition. The people have a right to know, within the bounds of security, what their government is doing. Eisenhower has nothing to hide, and is showing that he believes the more the people know about the Government's business, the better the Government will be.

'The Evil That Men Do'

Pennsylvania's two United States Senators, both from the western section of the commonwealth, are properly outraged at the discovery that a treasury agent at the Pittsburgh office was fired 10 years ago for making a report involving tax evasion and political payoffs.

Sen. Williams of Delaware, implacable foe of the evil-doings in our country, told in a speech on the floor that he had a photographic copy of the report on alleged payoffs by racketeers to public officials, a report the original of which is mysteriously missing from the files in Washington.

Said Sen. Williams: "I am therefore in a position to explode the theory that such a report never existed."

It is an intolerable thing to pay high taxes and then to learn that others have been able to escape these taxes by means that are direct violations of the law. That is Sen. Duff's opinion, and Sen. Martin is "outraged" because he always felt the Pittsburgh Internal Revenue office was above reproach in its conduct of affairs.

We are quite as outraged about the matter as are the two senators from our state, and hope that nothing is left undone to uncover the full details of this apparently shady deal. It is incredible that a treasury agent, in the honest discharge of his duty, should be told to destroy or rewrite the report . . . omitting certain references," and when he declined to be a party to such a deal, fired immediately.

Unfortunately, this kind of double-dealing was only too popular under the Washington administration of 16 years ago, which gave benign concurrence to many such illegal activities.

There should be no stones left unturned in determining who are the guilty men, and then proceeding to prosecute them.

SONG FOR JUNE

June's the month of bugs and roses,

Sudden leaks in garden hoses, Mother - birds intently feeding. Moths arriving, people weeding. Florists busy flower potting. Paint - stained guys intent on yachting.

Kids departing with diplomas, Clammers with odd aromas, Garden routines rather screwy; Energetic aims gone blooey. Bays and harbors phut-phut-shut-ty.

Auto drivers extra nutty.

Barefoot boys and schools' abatement, Barefoot girls - (an understatement!) . . .

Houses getting hot and stuffy. Flies and skeeters teach a toughie.

All green things a little greener, Berries . . . Quack, the garment cleaner!

Summer dances extra "jivey." Ptomaine, pimples, poison ivy, Crocical series, tennis matches, Love affairs and purple patches, Beaches crammed, romances cooking, Some folks bare and some "just looking."

Lifeguards tall, with vigor brimming —

(Someday they may take up swimming) . . .

Straw-hat circuits getting ready, Plays in places quite cost-sheddy; Frankfurters and rolls for lunches, es.

Dates developing in bunches, Holes in screens that need attention.

Popper fishing (on his pension) Global worries, warlord gloating . . . Nuts to trouble! . . . Let's go boating!

Harry Truman in Washington probably said, "It's all right for a permanent stay but I'd hate to be here for just a visit" . . . Justice Felix Frankfurter has introduced the "delayed dissent" . . . The baseball scorers would call him out sliding . . . Now that tokens are being introduced to pay N. Y. subway and bus fares, we expect to hear of the crook who counterfeited them, thus making a facsimile of a facsimile . . . Russia has lifted a few travel curbs, thus offering the world the first example of knot-holes in iron curtains . . .

Eisenhower-Reed Meeting Was Without Compromises

Washington — President Eisenhower has had many conferences since entering the White House, but none like that one in which he tried to win over Representative Daniel Reed (R., N. Y.), ballyhoo chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

Reed was unmannerly in any way. Far from it. The veteran legislator was courteous and temperate throughout. But in a coldly polite manner, he rebuffed the President from start to finish.

There was no attempt at bargaining. Neither said anything about a compromise. The discussion revolved solely around Reed's obdurate stand.

The White House meeting was arranged by two friends of Reed who are on close terms with the President. They are Senator Frank Carlson (R., Kans.), who as a member of the house served with Reed on the Ways and Means Committee, and Representative Richard Simpson (R., Pa.), who has been on the Committee for a number of years and, like Carlson, was active for the President in 1952.

Carlson had breakfast with Reed before he went to the White House. The Kansan tried to interest Reed in the compromise proposed by Simpson to extend the excess profits tax to September 30 instead of the six months urged by the President. Reed refused to give any ground.

"I'm standing pat," he told Carlson. "I'm not making any concessions. This is a matter of principle with me and I contend you can't compromise with principle. I'll go down and see the President, but I am going to tell him exactly what I've told you. I respect and admire him, but I disagree with him and I won't change my mind."

Frank Talk — The upstate New Yorker was as good as his word.

The President began by explaining he was not asking Reed to reverse his dislike of the excess profits tax.

"I'm not trying to persuade you to approve of this tax," the President said. "All I want you to do is to allow the democratic processes to work. As long as you refuse to convene a meeting of your Committee, the democratic processes are stultified. I know you are absolutely sincere in opposing this tax. But I don't think you are being fair when you won't let Congress act on the matter."

"Mr. President," replied Reed, "I'm afraid you don't understand how the democratic processes operate in Congress. I have not usurped any powers in opposing this legislation. In dealing with your recommendation, I have at

"We're listening," grimed Sikes. "Anything you can tell us that'll be helpful in answering our mail will be a big boon."

"I'm not sure I can do that," declared King, "but in my opinion the particles that result from a bomb explosion are not sated in shape or in other ways to nucleate clouds or cause precipitation. The energy released from an atomic explosion is only a small fraction of the energy involved in even an ordinary storm. It's extremely doubtful that atomic explosions are in any way causing the tornadoes we have been experiencing. However, it is possible that the atomic explosions have contributed in a small way to creating turbulent atmospheric conditions."

George Sokolsky Says...

Our Allies Have More Trouble With Our Varying Policies Than Our Enemies

STILL FORMOSA

No Far Eastern solution can omit Formosa. There stands a government which is recognized by the United States and holds a seat in the United Nations, as representing the Chinese people. The fact is that this government was defeated on the mainland by a revolutionary body supported in its rebellion by Soviet Russia, also a member of the United Nations.

The British and a large number of other countries have recognized the Chinese Communists as a government of China. They propose that the Nationalists be deprived of their seat in the United Nations, and that the Chinese Communists be given that seat. That is one issue that is to be raised at the Bermuda conference between Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Eisenhower.

Lord Henderson, in a full dress speech in the House of Lords, states the British position fully:

"Her Majesty's Government recognize the Pekin Government, and there can surely be no doubt that, following a Korean peace, it is the Government's intention to support the admission of Pekin representatives to the United Nations.

The second problem, the problem of Formosa, is more complex and presents special difficulties. The Pekin Government claims it. The Chinese Nationalists occupy it . . . I have also seen the suggestion that Formosa should enjoy a period of trusteeship under the United Nations. What, in fact, will be the future status of Formosa is a matter which will be settled in negotiations for a Far Eastern peace, but if peace throughout Asia is to be (to use President Eisenhower's words) "true and total" one clear decision seems to be called for—that is, that Formosa cannot be allowed to continue to be used as a Chinese Nationalist base from which to carry on civil war and to build up and launch armed attacks on the Chinese mainland."

This is a very curious statement. The Formosan government was up to 1948 the universally recognized government of China by Great Britain as well as to the United States. It had been the second most important participant in the Far Eastern phase of World War II. The Chinese Communists were the insurgents who conducted a civil war against the duly constituted government of China. True, under plans for a truce between the Nationalists and the Communists arranged by General George Marshall, the rebels were victorious on the mainland, but they did not succeed in destroying the Nationalists, who took refuge on Formosa and have maintained a government there.

How can Lord Henderson say that the duly constituted government, with a seat in the United Nations, is conducting a civil war against the rebels? Nothing in international law explains such a paradox. Nothing under the United Nations Charter creates such a condition. Lord Henderson was undoubtedly stating the formal policy of the British government, which recognized the Chinese Communists in pursuit of trade. But these views have been publicly proclaimed as the policy of either the Truman or the Eisenhower Administration.

As regards a United Nations trusteeship for Formosa, it was first mentioned by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in April at an off-the-record conversation with selected newsmen. Dulles subsequently denied that such was the United States plan. The White House also disclaimed it.

This plan will never be accepted by Chiang Kai-shek any more than Syngman Rhee has accepted the occupation of his country by Chinese Communists and Indian troops.

From my long experience with Asiatics, I can only see massacres, assassinations and terror in the future. The Koreans will no more submit to the presence of Hindus in their country than they submitted to the Japanese and to Chinese Communists. They even opposed a Formosan participating army.

The Americans were not resisted because the Koreans knew, as all Asiatics do, that Americans always go home. They are not empire-builders and they have no desire to occupy the lands of other peoples.

That has never been the history of the Chinese or the Hindus, who have in their history occupied area imperialistically.

China held Korea in suzerainty for 300 years; Japan annexed Korea.

Similarly, the Chinese Nationalists, while they can work with the United States, cannot risk a United Nations trusteeship which can only be a forerunner to handing the island over to the Chinese Communists.

Our allies have more trouble with our varying policies than the countries that engaged us in war.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

There is no honor among thieves, contrary to the usual belief, but there certainly is etiquette.

I don't know whether there is such a thing as a burglars' union. But if there is, I bet they have by-laws and rules as strict as those of any industrial union or fraternal organization.

We all know that gangsters are not supposed to horn in on each other's rackets, that many a crook had to pay with his life because he overstepped the rules of criminal propriety.

Like so many of our traditions and usages, perhaps the etiquette of crooks has come over to us from England, the cradle of most of our whatyoumaycallit.

A story comes from Kingswood, Eng., of a Thomas Arrowsmith, Esq., who chased a burglar down the street in his underwear, captured the thief and recovered the loot, 410 pounds, or $1,232 in our money.

The defendant, John Homer, told the judge that he could easily have gotten away with the money.

"But," he continued, "I surrendered to Mr. Arrowsmith because of my sense of morality. It did not seem right for him to be running about in public in his underclothes."

The judge quite agreed with Mr. Homer. It was improper and immoral for Mr. Homer to file a Weiner roast to be held at Poco-no-Lake.

And Mr. X has been wearing the same dress for more than two years, now. Imagine!

Perhaps Mrs. X has been giving so much to the poor that she could not afford another dress. I don't know. But God does.

Just

—By Bobby Westbrook

Well, this was a weekend when we lived up to the Chamber of Commerce, don't you think? And with a full moon thrown in for good measure.

It was a wonderful weekend for our brides, too. And while you'll have to wait until tomorrow for the full story of Barbara Carlton's wedding up in Barrett, I can't wait to tell you about some of the special items.

In the first place, one of the star attractions was the bride's grandmother, who looked sort of bridal herself with her white orchids and who was celebrating her birthday, too, by the way.

And then that was the first time I'd seen the Canadensis Methodist Church since it was remodeled and it's beautiful. Everybody used to sit catcorner, but now they've straightened the pews around, added the space for the altar and choir. Very effective.

I had to look up how to spell "catcorner," and since it's a shame to waste all that effort just to spell it right, I'm going to insist that you learn where it came from, too.

Doesn't have anything to do with "eat," which I'd vaguely assumed, vaguely connecting it up with the childhood game of "puddin' in the corner."

Instead, Mr. Webster says it's a variation of "enter-corner," from the French word for "four" and means diagonally. So there!

Miss Dorothy J. Morris Is Early Summer Bride

Rhododendron, delphinium and chrysanthemums graced the altar and chancel of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 for the pretty early Summer wedding of Miss Dorothy Jean Morris, daughter of Mrs. Martha W. Morris and the late Walter Morris, of 405 Normal St., East Stroudsburg, who became the bride of Richard Charon Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Hammond, of 827 Monroe St., Stroudsburg. Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Church pastor, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Leila Bunnell presided at the organ console and rendered a medley of nuptial melodies prior to the wedding. Durell Madar sang two baritone selections, "Until" and "Because" before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" as the bridal couple knelt before the altar on white satin pillow during the reading of the wedding prayers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, LeRoy W. Morris, was attired in a white nylon ballerina length gown with fingertip veil. Her train was set in tiny white pom-poms and her sleeves pointed over the wrists. She carried a white Bible on which was mounted a white orchid set in a shower of streamers and miniature blossoms.

Miss Lois M. Cramer served as maid-of-honor. She wore a turquoise lace ballerina length gown with a train of baby's breath and carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow carnations and baby's breath.

Miss Morris, niece of the bride, was flower girl and strewed rose petals in the bridal pathway to the altar. She was attired in a lavender nylon dress with white accessories.

Leo A. Achterman Jr. served as best man. Randall J. Morris, brother of the bride, and Frank Lanterman, served as ushers. Thomas L. Kinney was acolyte.

The bride's mother was attired in a light blue nylon print street length dress with Navy and white accessories and wore an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a pale lavender nylon print street length dress, white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Immediately following their wedding, a reception was held in their honor in the social rooms of the Parish House with 150 guests in attendance. Colorful decorations featuring white weddng bells and streamers graced the reception scene. A five tiered wedding cake and other dainty refreshments were served.

Following the reception the newlyweds left on a honeymoon to the Cornell University campus at Ithaca, N.Y., Niagara Falls and Canada. For her going-away attire the bride wore a charcoal nylon street length dress, black and white accessories and her white orchid corsage.

The bride was graduated from East Stroudsburg High School in 1948 and has been employed by the A. B. Wyckoff store. Mr. Hammond was graduated from Cornell University in 1946 with a B.S. degree in Electrical Engineering. He is employed with his father, H. W. Hammond and Son, sheet metal fabricators.

The newlyweds will be at home to their friends in their newly-furnished apartment at 1670 West Main St., Stroudsburg, upon returning from their honeymoon.

Effective Use Of Scutl, Crabgrass Killer Produced By Scotts Lawn Products, Described For Auer, Local Dealer

Customarily the lead story in Lawn Care is a digest of material from many sources and is written by our staff. But this page from the garden diary of R. J. DeGray was too good to keep. He has not only told his story well but with feeling. That is why we asked him to share it.

When we moved into our present home in 1948 I surveyed the long-neglected lawn, feeling something like Old MacDonald, with "here a little crabgrass, there a little crabgrass, everywhere some crabgrass." But the situation was not due to sloth about so we promptly set to work and our garden diary for 1949 and 1950 records the blow by blow account of what seemed a losing battle.

We tried to pull it up with our bare hands, only to find that every time we uprooted a stalk at the northeast corner of the lawn, a seedpod shook at the southwest corner. We tried herky-jerky mowing, mowing from different directions, and one of us raked ahead of the mower in a vain attempt to chop off the raised stems before they could seed. The result was a herky-jerky backache and just as much crabgrass as ever.

Then, in 1951, we tried Scotts Scutl (phenyl mercuric acetate). According to our diary it was applied on June 25. It rained on June 26 and kept it up for three days. Scutl was applied again on July 1, just after a light rain, followed by four days of clear weather. By July 7 we felt like setting off a belated fire-cracker for here and there the crabgrass was turning light green and then the sickly yellow that foretold its eventual demise.

The fight was far from over by the time crabgrass seeding started in mid-August the pest was reduced to obvious patches and we were confident—that with Scutl as our ally, another year would find the loathsome weed thoroughly routed.

By last year our determination to lick crabgrass knew no bounds so we went into experimenting. We used Scutl again on the east lawn but reserved the west lawn for parallel testing of other treatments. The application was on July 3, following a light rain sprinkling to help adherence of the compound to the blades of grass. The second application was made on July 12, again after a sprinkling. There was no rain until July 17. These good conditions gave ideal results. Occasional patches of surviving crabgrass were glaringly obvious and so few that we easily pulled them out by hand.

No such success with our test area, the west lawn. An initial treatment with a liquid applied as a spray failed completely and by August 1 the lawn was a mass of crabgrass.

Next we tried a powder designed for spray application when crabgrass is mature. We followed directions exactly, even to measuring off areas of 135 square feet, each to receive 5 teaspoons in dilution. Application was made with a sprinkling can . . . how my arms and back ached. By August 9 the crabgrass was as healthy as ever. The next time we used a compound sprayer that wet down every last blade of grass. The whole job took back-breaking hours—never again! The results were fine for six days but before frost a whole new generation was flourishing. The Scutl-ed east lawn, however, stayed completely free of the hated intruder.

You too, can end your Crabgrass worries by seeing "Tony" Auer, at Auer's Paint Store, 1016 W. Main Street, in Stroudsburg. Auer's Paint Store Carries a Complete line of all Scotts Lawn Products.

Scrap Is Listed As Top Industry

By D. Katz & Sons

The scrap iron dealer is engaged in the business of processing and converting the scrap from heaps of unusable tangled metals into the cut, sheared, baled and carefully segregated materials needed by the large and complicated steel industry. In other words, the scrap dealer is a processor or conservator of natural resources.

He is one who must have a thorough knowledge of (1) market conditions, (2) expensive equipment, (3) freight rates, (4) cost accounting, (5) a desire to work hard in all degrees of weather and natural conditions, and finally, (6) a willingness to risk capital by stockpiling scrap iron that may be unusable for undetermined periods of times.

Because of the continuous change in conditions and trends, the average dealer must be prepared to handle almost any quality of ferrous scrap. Therefore, he must have a good size piece of real estate on which to sort, prepare and segregate the various grades of scrap by the assistance of heavy-duty equipment such as cranes, baling presses, torches, shears, trucks, magnets, grapples, and buckets. Not to overlook varieties of acetylene and oxygen installations, warehouse facilities, office equipment, large trucks, railroad scales, and railroad trackage to permit acceptance of scrap in car-load lots.

Before entering the scrap yard to see how all of the matter which I have just mentioned performs an important role in the preparation and segregation of scrap iron, I wish to briefly mention that there are many intangible qualities that a dealer acquires by actual experience that is not found in any book or paper of instruction.

Analomink Gains Surprise Victory Over Reeders, 12-11

Five Runs In Eighth Decide Issue

Henryville — Analomink supplied one of the biggest upsets of the Pocono Mountains League baseball season thus far yesterday when the second division club won over league-leading Reeders, 12-11, in a free scoring game. The contest was played here on the winning club's home grounds.

Analomink came from far behind with a five-run rally in the eighth which proved enough to win, despite a last inning rally by the desperate Reeders contingent. Both clubs ran wild in the first inning, scoring five times, in both the top and bottom half of the session.

Reeders continued to roll and held a 10-7 advantage before Analomink broke the locks for five more tallies in the eighth.

Rally Fails

The Reeders club, considered as the team to beat for the 1953 pennant, came up with a rally in the ninth inning and threw a real scare into the home team before the spurt was killed with the tieing and winning runs on base.

Jim Correll, third of three Analomink pitchers was credited with the victory, while John Bonser, second of two Reeders hurlers, suffered the setback.

Reeders held a 16-15 edge in the hit production, but the first division club committed four defensive errors and the home team took advantage of every break to land the victory.

Middlecoff Wins Tourney

Cleveland, (AP) — Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis won the $2,400 first prize in the 72-hole Manakiki Open Golf Tournament yesterday, defeating Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., on the second hole of a "sudden death" playoff after they had tied at 275.

Middlecoff, the 6-foot-2 dentist who won the 1949 National Open on the center court pits Sven Davidson of Sweden, unranked, against a par four to Kroll's five on the second extra hole.

Second Prize

Kroll's runner-up prize was $1,500.

The finish was anti-climate to what occurred as the two sparred through the stretch over the heavily treed and trapped 6551-yard, par 72, layout.

Kroll went into the final day's play with a two-stroke edge over Middlecoff, and was still 1 up with nine to play.

Middlecoff went 2 up on the next five holes, then ran into heart-breaker. On the 15th, a 210-yarder over a lake, with a stream right off the fairway, Cary sliced his tee shot into the creek. That cost him a stroke penalty, and he took a five to Kroll's three, squaring the match.

On the 18th, Middlecoff banged a long iron to within eight feet of the cup, while Kroll's second landed short of the elevated green by inches, and then rolled 50 feet down a hill away from the putting surface.

Indians Pull To Within Six Games Of Number One Spot As Yankees Continue Losing Habit

New York (AP) — Al Rosen's three-run homer and Early Wynn's three-hit pitching sunk the New York Yankees with their seventh straight defeat yesterday as Cleveland swept within six games of first place with a 4-1 victory.

Knocking out Whitey Ford in a three-run first inning when Rosen followed singles by Dale Mitchell and Bobby Avila with his 16th homer into the lower right-field seats, the Indians got away fast and never stopped.

Wynn, who allowed only one hit in the first 6 1/3 innings, blasted relief pitcher Tom Gorman for his second homer of the year in the fourth inning.

The jittery Yanks were lucky to escape more trouble in the first after the homer. A dropped fly by Billy Martin, a dropped throw by Gil McDougald, and a walk ended the day for Ford. Tom Gorman came in to skirt further disaster until Wynn's homer.

It was the first Yank run in 16 innings. They were shut out Saturday by Mike Garcia, 5-0.

Al Lopez, Cleveland manager, wasn't around to enjoy one of his greatest days. Plate Umpire Eddie Rommel ejected him from the game in the first inning after an argument over a called strike on Rosen. A few seconds later Rosen smashed his home run.

In the most disastrous Yankee week since 1945, their American

They have not won a game since

It is the worst losing tailspin in the five-year regime of Manager

"Casey" Stengel. Their longest five defeats.

Tobyhanna Wins Over Mount Cobb

Tobyhanna—Tobyhanna continued its uphill fight in the Pocono Mountains Association yesterday with a thrilling 3-2 victory over Mount Cobb, here on the Coolbaugh High grounds.

Tom McHale drew a life on an error to open the final round, held first while John Flegler skied to right, but advanced to second on a fielder's choice grounder by Al Konopka. "Chubby" Deubler then singled home the winning run.

Mount Cobb opened the scoring with a single run in the first inning only to have the home club knot the count in the fourth.

Short Lead

The visiting nine went into a 2-1 lead in the fifth and Tobyhanna tied the score in the sixth. The count remained at this point until Deubler bunted out the payoff single in the ninth.

Manager Spencer "Spence" Walker, a real hot weather hurler, worked the distance for the winning aggregation, although touched for 11 hits.

Tobyhanna was credited with only eight safeties, but took advantage of four Mount Cobb errors to win.

Stan "Lefty" Kolodzy, Tobyhanna's first baseman and leading hitter in the league, gave his already high average a boost by banging out a triple and single in two official trips to the plate.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Another near capacity crowd was on hand to witness the stock car show at Stroudsburg Speedway on Saturday night, as Ken Wismer, Easton, outlasted Harold "Flying Milkman" Brooker, Pottsville, in a thrilling finish. The fact that Wismer won the race presents the oddity that Eastern drivers have won all four feature events at the half-mile track located next to the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Airport. Harry Charles won the opener, then Jack Burgstesser came along to win the next two before Wismer cracked the winner's circle on Saturday.

Wismer's daughter was a victim of meningitis last week, but if Saturday's race was an example, maybe Lady Luck has decided to smile on the likeable stock car pilot. On the other hand, bad luck continues to plague Dale Johnson, East Stroudsburg, who was forced out of action for the third straight race by car trouble. Ray Fleming, Bethlehem, had his Stroudsburg car repaired in time to take part in the feature event, but didn't cross the finish line among the first five. Fleming wrecked his car during a practice spin last week.

Jack Burgstesser was out looking for his third straight feature win on Saturday, but the Eastern speed merchant was involved in an early accident and his car was damaged so much that he was never a threat in the late stages of the race. "Buddy" Burgstesser, Jack's brother, led the feature field for several laps before he dropped out of serious contention after a minor accident. Tom Garbarie Jr., 10-years-of-age, drove the pace car on two turns around the half-mile oval prior to Saturday's feature event. Bob Kirshner, well known test driver, was also present at Stroudsburg Speedway on Saturday.

Rumors making the rounds at the pits on Saturday indicated that "Smoky" Dengler, Reading's famous one-legged driver, was preparing to retire from stock car racing after many years of success in the game. Dengler is one of the favorite pilots at the local track. Several regular Saturday night drivers were unable to complete last weekend due to damaged cars. Most of them are expected to be back in action this coming Saturday. Stroudsburg Speedway will present a double barrelled program over the Fourth of July weekend. Next Saturday the usual stock car program will prevail, while big cars may race next Sunday, at 8:30 p.m. If big cars aren't available on Sunday, stock cars will again be in action. A "Destruction Derby" will also take place on Sunday.

The Pocono Mountains Baseball League runs into its first doubleheaders of the circuit next Saturday. Several doubleheaders are required by each team to make up games that were rained out earlier in the present campaign. Harold White and Bill Sommers, heroes of yesterday's Bushkill victory over Kunkletown, are both students and athletes at East Stroudsburg High school. Arm injuries were quite common in area baseball games yesterday.

Harold Jacobson, southpaw pitcher for Pocono A. C., was forced from yesterday's game with Martins Creek in the first inning because of an ailing arm. Dick Peetchatka, ace relief hurler for Tannersville, was struck on the right elbow, his throwing arm, while battling in the ninth inning of yesterday's game with West End A. C. and according to reports last night may be out of action for some time. The crowd at the Pocono Mountains League All-Star game on Saturday was reported as disappointing.

Although the crowd at the All-Star game was small, a large turnout featured the cake walk and band concert held after the game at the West End Fairgrounds. Four cakes were featured that were baked by pastry chef in the Poconos. One of the cakes even had all the names of the teams on it. A financial report, which is expected to be a true success, will be released by the circuit in the very near future. Clint Getz, league president; Harry Janson, first vice president; Clarence Smith, second vice president; and John Werner, secretary, worked at the refreshment stand at the cake walk.

The league plans a similar affair in future years, but on a bigger and better scale. All proceeds will go toward a winter league banquet. Speaking of money brings to mind that the Barrett Little League Association recently raised approximately $350 at a supper held in the Mountainhome Methodist Church. The money will go toward constructing an official Little League field in the area. A square dance will probably be held at the Wiles-Away Rollerdrone in the near future.

Col. Thomas Morrison and Lewis DePaul, both of the Tophannon Signal Corps Depot, played golf at Glen Brook Country Club yesterday and remarked on the fine condition of the course. Bill Shires, former infielder-outfielder with Pocono A. C. and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, hit safely seven times in his first eight at bats for Bavaria, of the Class "B" Pony League.

THIRD BASE — An unidentified player is pictured above sliding safely into third base for the Pocono Mountains League All-Stars on Saturday. Ray Nicholas is the Kunkletown third sacker in the picture. Kunkletown went on to win, 9-1.

Kunkletown Rolls Over Pocono Mountains League All-Stars

Gilbert — Kunkletown, defending champion in the Pocono Mountains League, proved too tough for the Pocono Mountains League All-Stars in a special benefit baseball game played here on the West End A. C. field Saturday night. Kunkletown scored a convincing 9-1 victory.

The All-Stars threw 23 men into action, but nothing Manager Walter Stein did could halt the Kunkletown attack.

Only Run

Melvin "Bub" Bush, pinch-hitting for starting pitcher Doug Price in the second inning, drove in the only run of the game for the losing aggregation with a single.
